LEARN ABOUT CANCER TREATMENT GUIDELINES

YOU MAY NEED TO SEE SEVERAL DIFFERENT DOCTORS AND YOU MAY BE CONFRONTED WITH A LOT OF UNFAMILIAR TERMS. YOUR DOCTORS ARE A CRITICAL SOURCE OF INFORMATION AND GUIDANCE. YOU NEED TO FEEL CONFIDENT THAT THEY ARE MAKING THE BEST RECOMMENDATIONS FOR YOU AND THAT THEY ARE CONSIDERING THE LATEST ADVANCES IN CANCER TREATMENT.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT HOSPITAL AND SPECIALISTS ARE IMPORTANT STEPS, BUT LEARNING MORE ABOUT THE RESOURCES YOUR DOCTORS HAVE CAN ALSO HELP. GUIDELINES, SUCH AS THOSE PRODUCED BY THE NATIONAL COMPREHENSIVE CANCER NETWORK (NCCN), ARE ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT TOOLS YOUR DOCTORS CAN USE.

WHAT IS THE NATIONAL COMPREHENSIVE CANCER NETWORK?

The National Comprehensive Cancer Network (NCCN), a nonprofit alliance of 21 of the world's leading cancer centers, is an authoritative source of information to help patients and health professionals make informed decisions about cancer care. Through the collective expertise of its member institutions, NCCN develops, updates and disseminates a complete library of clinical practice guidelines. All NCCN programs have the overriding objective of informing and improving decisions and outcomes for patients.

WHAT ARE GUIDELINES?

Guidelines are directions for treating a particular disease. The guidelines developed by the NCCN are considered the standard of care in cancer. Each of the 100-plus NCCN Clinical Practice Guidelines in Oncology™ has two parts. The main part of the NCCN Guideline is a chart, or algorithm, that specifies a logical progression of treatment options based on previous test or treatment results. For example, the guideline might recommend an MRI after several months of chemotherapy to determine if a particular therapy is working, with arrows pointing to different recommendations based on whether the answer is "yes" or "no." Guidelines are important because they identify the treatments provided by several types of doctors who must work together to provide the best care possible.

Because of the complexity of treatment, NCCN Guidelines also written article, or manuscript, explain why certain options are included red as well as discussing possible treatments and research in progress.

HOW ARE GUIDELINES CREATED?

Organizing all the information about a particular cancer into step-by-step recommendations is a large task. NCCN and updates guidelines on 97% of on screening for more common and on supportive care issues. If more than 800 experts arranged different expert committees. Each committee is made up of 21 experts NCCN member organizations — top US cancer centers and include only different cancer specialists oncologists, surgeons and radiologists (example), but also other experts nurses, pharmacists, social work patient advocates. The NCCN is to include participants from across country and people with different treatment philosophies to make sure recommendations are complete, logical and evidence-based.

HOW DO GUIDELINES HELP PATIENTS?

Even though they're written for the guidelines' real job is to help get the best care possible.
